

INVESTIGATION IMPLICATES CHIEF CRITIC

Borglum Sought To Capitalize Wilson's Friendship in Air- plane Contracts

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—A sensational story, stating that the chief critic of aircraft production officials, is represented as seeking for himself a position as silent partner in the proposed new corporation, his sole asset in the transaction to be his personal friendship with President Wilson whom he stated he could do anything with.

With Borglum was associated, according to the documents, when C. Gibson, an employee of the British ministry of munitions of war in the United States, located in New York who was to share in the deal.

A formal statement by Kenyon W. Mix, of the Dodge Manufacturing company of Indiana setting forth a detailed account of his negotiations with the two men is among the papers put into the congressional record. They were presented by Senator Thomas of Colorado, a member of the senate military committee who has been particularly active in connection with the aircraft agitation. The Mix statement shows that government officials including Vice-President Marshall and Howard E. Coffin, former head of the aircraft board, had had most of the information disclosed today since last January. There is no indication, however, that it reached President Wilson himself at that time or that the president knew of its existence until several weeks ago when he called a halt upon the sculptor's investigation in his name.

All of the documents submitted by Senator Thomas as well as much other data from the department have been placed in the hands of Assistant Attorney General Frierson who has just started the inquiry ordered by the president into charges of grat, disloyalty and incompetence in the government aircraft. These charges, referred to first in Capitol cloak room gossip and finally on the floor of the senate have been attributed largely to assertions of Borglum. With Mix's statement there was filed today a copy of a formal statement accusing Borglum made to the military intelligence section of the army general staff late in January by Henry Harrison Supple, Mix's consulting engineer and who participated in many of the conferences on the subject of the proposed corporation with Borglum and Gibson described by his chief. The latter says he became suspicious when he visited Borglum in Washington during January and was shown President Wilson's letter authorizing the investigation by the sculptor and decided then to report the whole matter to government authorities.

There are intimations that a great deal of information bearing on Borglum's activities and motives has been assembled by the army intelligence service. There is an unconfirmed report in official circles that evidence of German influence in some form will be brought to light when the full story is revealed.

Impressed Mix.
Mr. Mix states that the confidence of Borglum and Gibson in their ability to build speed scouts acceptable to the government impressed him and he considered extending his plans for manufacture. He attaches a copy of a letter to Borglum dated January 4th, in which the proposal for a new company composed of manufacturers of component parts of airplanes appears for the most time. Mix explains that the Dodge people would not have cared to share ownership in veneer patents and processes any more than Borglum and Gibson would have cared to share permanently their interests in the designs power plant.

On January 6th, Borglum worked on the designs.

"I leave for Washington on serious business. Can you see me there at earliest possible date? Address me Metropolitan Club."

The next day Borglum wired from Washington:

"Am here indefinitely. Bring drawings, photos or other portable data of swift foreign planes. See Gibson in New York."

On January 9th, 1918, Mix's statement continues, "I called Mr. Gibson at the British ministry by telephone and was instructed to meet him in the afternoon at the office of Mr. Compton an engineer on the eighth floor of the Hudson Terminal building. Mr. H. H. Supple, accompanied me on this visit."

Compton, Mix understood, was a designer in the employ of Borglum and Gibson and at his office there was also Lieutenant Roberts of the British army who said he was invaluable of the service and available for private interviews.

"Mr. Gibson stated to me," the Mix statement continues, "in this conference that Mr. Borglum's connection was with the highest authorities in the American government and showed me a telegram from a man by the name of Nichols stating that Borglum could put through anything that had merit. Mr. Gibson also stated that Mr. Borglum could not in any way be identified with the company opening and that his interest would be represented by a Mr. Harris whom he wished me to meet on the following day."

He told me that Mr. Borglum was doing big things in Washington but that it was up to Mr. Borglum to explain for himself what they were.

When he was satisfied that his suspicions were well founded, Mix called his father's friend, F. S. Hardesty, of this city, into conference. A portion of the facts were laid before Mr. Coffin, but the source of the information was disclosed fully to Mr. Coffin and General Squier.

The statement was prepared by Mr. Mix in Mr. Hardesty's office and he notes while he was writing it, a letter arrived for him, a copy of which he attaches. This letter is on the stationery of the British ministry of munitions of war in the United States of America. Under date of New York, January 6, and addressed to Mix it says:

"Dusenberry states that it is Italian about 550 (a peculiar mark here probably means horsepower, referring to an airplane engine) being built to special order of government U. S., and won't say any more."

The letter is signed by Hugo C. Gibson.

In concluding his statement Mix says that January 20, he called on Vice President Marshall and laid full details of the transactions with Borglum before him. The following day the papers were returned to Mix "with Mr. Marshall's assurance he had taken the matter up with Secretary Baker and that it would be attended to in detail."

Other documents dated as far back as September 14, show that Borglum at that time was working on airplane inventions. The papers were returned to Mix "with Mr. Marshall's assurance he had taken the matter up with Secretary Baker and that it would be attended to in detail."

In August Borglum wrote Prof. W. F. Durand, chairman of the National Aeronautics committee regarding tests of certain models which he had sought to have made at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His original models were too large for the wind tunnel the letter shows, and it adds that he had made smaller models. A message from H. H. Peabody dated May 3, 1918, is attached showing that these smaller models never were submitted at the institute for test.

Issues Statement.
New York, May 10.—Hugo C. Gibson, who is an assistant here in the munitions purchasing of the British military mission issued a statement late today defending himself and Gutzon Borglum in connection with the disclosures made in Washington of Borglum's alleged activities in aircraft schemes.

"Mr. Borglum washed his hands of all connections with negotiations looking to our organization of an airplane manufacturing enterprise as soon as President Wilson granted him authority to investigate the handling of aircraft production," said Gibson.

Gibson explained that in 1911 and 1912 he was manufacturing airplane propellers in this city and that a friend introduced him to Borglum who was interested in airplanes and propeller designs.

"Borglum was accused wholly by patriotic motives in the investigation he undertook because he was one of those who were crazed by the rotten manner in which the aircraft program was being handled," Gibson asserted.

In his formal statement Gibson denied he had told H. H. Supple he had authority or opportunity to influence orders for airplanes and declared Borglum would have been valuable in the proposed enterprise only because of his ideas on propeller design.

AMERICAN PROFESSOR SPURNS ATTEMPTED HUN PEACE OFFENSIVE

Swiss Correspondent of Daily Mail Tells of Offers Made Americans Living in Germany.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 10.—A story of how an attempted German peace offensive directed toward President Wilson was turned down ignominiously by Professor Heron, an American living in Geneva, is told by the Swiss correspondent of the Daily Mail, in his despatch dated at Annemasse, on the Franco-Swiss frontier. Professor Heron is described as a friend of President Wilson.

The German government, according to the correspondent tried to get peace offers sent to the President thru Professor Heron who was visited on April 19 by Professor Quiddie, of Munich, a friend of Count Von Hertling, the Imperial German chancellor. Professor Quiddie was accompanied by Dr. Jong Van Beek the Dutch pacifist.

Professor Quiddie said he had come to prepare the way for a merciful peace and gave Professor Heron to understand that he spoke for Chancellor Von Hertling and the German foreign office. He assured the American professor that the peace party in the Reichstag was about to gain predominance in Germany and that he wished to prepare President Wilson to take advantage of that auspicious moment.

Germany, Professor Quiddie said, was willing to make the following terms:

First To grant autonomy to Alsace Lorraine within the limits of the German empire, provided the Allies would not broach the subject of Alsace Lorraine at the peace conference.

Second — The Brest-Litovsk peace treaties not to be discussed at the peace conference, although the Allies might submit claims for the revision of them and Germany might make certain concessions.

Third — No economic war against Germany after the war.

Fourth — German colonies to be restored.

Professor Quiddie asserted that the present offensive in France had the ultimate objective of achieving of a durable peace.

Professor Heron, the Daily Mail correspondent writes, after listening to the German educator exclaimed:

"I wonder that you have the effrontery to ask me to lay such a reguarole of cant and deceit before the American people. Far from creating a spirit of conciliation the American will to smother the perfidious and nefarious offer of such proposals."

"The United States intends to continue the fighting until the Prussian military power and if necessary the Prussia state along with it is extinguished forever as a power for evil, whether it takes one year or ten."

"If you call the remorseless sacrifice of two million men a peace offensive and if you want the United States to recognize your shelling of Parisian congregations and churches as a part of it you are making a monstrous and foolish blunder."

"When I listen to your false and treacherous overtures I feel ashamed of humanity."

Professor Quiddie, adds the correspondent, left the house weeping. The next week Professor Heron was besieged by new offers by telephone, one of the speakers saying he was Dr. W. S. Zolf, German colonial minister. Professor Heron talked straight to all of them, telling them among other things that "The United States no longer wants peace. It wants to sweep out the augean stables at Potsdam."

The Professor Heron referred to in the despatch is probably Professor George D. Herron, formerly of Grinnell College, Iowa. Nearly 20 years ago Professor Herron came into considerable prominence on account of his views regarding marriage. Separated from his first wife he followed out his ideas in contracting a second marriage. He has lived in Europe for more than a decade.

STATEMENTS

Official Communications Issued By Belligerent Countries Regarding War Situation.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, May 10.—The artillery fighting has been rather violent in the region of Grivesnes and between Lassigny and Noyon, and the official communication issued by the war office tonight.

The statement of the east: There have been reciprocal artillery actions at the mouth of the Struma on the Serbian front in the bend of the Derna and to the north of Monastir. Serbian troops have carried out with success a surprise attack against Bulgarian trenches near Zhordski.

"There have been reconnoitering encounters east of Lake Ochrid."

"Allied aviators have bombarded an enemy airdrome at Drama and troop encampments at Beroncel."

BERLIN, May 10.—via London —The German official communication issued today says:

"On the battle front throughout the day there was lively artillery activity only in the region of Montebello, both sides of the Luce brook and in the western part of the Avere."

"The strong increase in the firing in these sectors was followed by enemy advances. During the repulse of these and during lively reconnoitering activity we took a number of prisoners."

In the evening and during the night the artillery battle was frequently revived between the Yser and the Olse. On the remainder of the front the fighting activity remained restricted to reconnoitering engagements."

LONDON, May 10.—The bulk of the German reserves is still in the rear of the Somme front and it must be assumed the enemy's big, main effort will be in that direction."

General Radcliffe, chief director of military operations at the war office in summing up the week's war developments today, "It is equally certain that he will not discontinue his attacks in Flanders."

In the period between March 21, when the German offensive was begun, and April 25 the losses of the French were only one fourth to one fifth those of the British, General Radcliffe's representative added. Since April 25 he said, there has been no reason to believe the losses of the French have been any heavier than those of the British.

POPE URGES SPECIAL PRAYER DURING MASS ON ST. PETER'S DAY

Prayer for Cessation of Evils Tormenting Humanity Urged by Pope Benedict in Special Message.

(By The Associated Press)

Rome, Thursday, May 9.—A special prayer during Mass on St. Peter's Day, June 29, for the cessation of the evils tormenting humanity, is urged by Pope Benedict in a special message, addressed to the whole world.

"The end of the fourth year approaches since Europe is in conflagration," says the message.

"During this time the violence has never diminished, but increased, so that we never have had moments of relief from ever-increasing ills and afflictions."

Continuing the pope says that owing to the ministry entrusted to him by Providence and animated by the charity of Jesus Christ, nothing has been left unattempted to remedy these afflictions. "The pontiff recalls the words of King Jehoshaphat, praying:

"Lord God of our fathers, Thou art God in Heaven and ruler over all kingdoms and nations. In Thy Hand is strength and power! none can resist Thee. We will cry to Thee in our afflictions and Thou wilt hear and save us. Our God, as we know not what to do, we can only turn our eyes to Thee."

The pope urges the world to trust in God, who is the arbiter of the will of men and human events and to trust His mercifulness to put a speedy end to so many storms, hastening peace and restoring among men a reign of justice and charity, above everything, God, who is wrathful at such persistent sins must be placated.

Humble entreaties and persevering prayers are the best means to do this. He urges the clergy thruout the world to divide the sacrificing for this purpose on June 29, a day sacred to the apostles of Peter and St. Paul, supplicating that the supreme desire of all be granted and that justice be restored."

INDICTMENTS CHARGE ANTI-TRUST VIOLATION

Ironite Company, Master Builders Company and United Products Company are Also Charged With Criminal Misuse of the Mails.

New York, May 10.—Two indictments charging violation of the Sherman anti trust law and criminal misuse of the mails were returned by the federal grand jury here today against the Ironite company, Master Builders company and United Products company, all of Chicago and a number of individuals.

The individual defendants are Edward I. Bucklin, Sylvester W. Fleishem, Sydney L. Fleishem, Richard E. Bishop, Harold E. Smith, William O. Belt, Solomon M. Hexter and Louis F. Bodt. They are charged with conspiracy to restrain trade.

These charges appear in the Sherman law indictment which further alleges that the defendants agreed in litigation between the Ironite company, the Master Builders' company and the city of Rockford, Ill., to the entering of a collusive agreement forming the United products company as a holding company. The Ironite company it is charged then entered into an agreement with the Master Builders company which by false representations about the proceeds of a sale of real estate, secured from the city of Rockford, to sign uniform license agreements and also to coerce purchasers to discontinue purchase of articles from competitors and to blacklist persons who failed to sign license agreements.

"Why not ask the lumberjack?" was the heading of an article in an official organ of August 8, 1917 in which authorities were quoted as saying the American aircraft program would be delayed a year unless strikes in the northwest lumber district were settled in two weeks.

"This is an open admission that we have tied up program," said the article.

"Whether the United States gets into this war or not does not alter the fact that industrial organization is the crying need," Special Prosecutor Nebeker read from one of the seized documents. "One big union is the power than can disband one big armv."

"I belong to the I. W. W. because I am patriotic," read one of the alleged anti-war documents. "Patriotism does not mean murder, but it does mean too patriotic to enlist."

Only a few days before the time set for registration under the selective service act the publication Solidarity, later suppressed, distributed to the membership and thruout the country an article bitterly attacking the American entrance into the war. It opposed the draft law, and declared:

"The German official statement concerning the raid says the attempt was a failure and that the bulk of the old cruiser lies outside of the navigation channel. This report may be compared to the one issued on April 24 the day following the raid on Zeebrugge which claimed that no damage was done to the mole or the harbor there. The subsequent events have proved that the damage done by the raid on April 23 was of a serious nature. It is pointed that the obstruction in the channel at Ostend at 00stend will tend to eventually close the harbor thru the action of the tides and the rapid sitting up of the harbor."

BRITISH MAKE SECOND ATTEMPT TO BLOCK OSTEND

Old Cruiser Vindictive is Sunk Across Entrance to the Harbor

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 10.—The Vindictive lies at an angle not effectively blocking the channel at Ostend, but serving a very useful purpose, according to the press associates. A partial and very serious blockade has been achieved and under the conditions of tide and sitting prevailing, this obstruction will certainly tend to increase.

Great Britain's naval triumph of April 23, at Zeebrugge, when this important German submarine base on the Belgium coast was apparently blocked by the sinking of concrete-laden ships during a daring raid, has been virtually duplicated at Ostend, another valuable base for the U-boats just to the east. The feat was accomplished by the sinking last night of the old cruiser Vindictive, likewise filled with concrete, across the entrance to Ostend harbor.

The operations begun with a view to closing these two ports, the admiralty announces, have now been "successfully completed."

The importance of the blocking operations lies in the fact that, if they have been as successful as it is believed, and the German submarines begun with a view to closing these two ports, the admiralty announces, have now been "successfully completed."

GOVERNMENT PRESENTS EVIDENCE AGAINST I. W. W.

Hoped to Crush America's War Plans By Defeat of Aircraft Program and Draft Act, Practice of Sabotage in Trenches in France and Factories at Home.

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago, May 10.—By defeat of the aircraft program and the selective service act, with practice of sabotage in the trenches in France, and the factories at home it was hoped by the I. W. W. to crumble America's war plans, according to evidence presented by the government today in the sensational conspiracy trial of I. W. W. leaders.

The 112 defendants listened intently during presentation of the great mass of documentary evidence which characterized the workingman, advocated spilling of guns and spoiling of powder, and termed the uniform of the soldier "the liver of the scab-herd."

COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL ELECTION TODAY

In another column will be found an explanation of the voting precincts for the community high school election which will be held today. Residents of the city and the outside territory designated should not fail to express their opinion upon this very important question today. It will be decided by a majority of the vote cast. The voter who believes that it will be the best policy to utilize the insurance money available and some additional funds for the speedy erection of a high school building on the present site, should vote against the community high school plan.

The voter who believes that the high school should be built with funds from a bond issue against property in the city of Jacksonville and the territory surrounding, a structure more commodious and expensive than Jacksonville alone can support, should vote for the community high school.

Men and women both have a right to vote on this question.

ILLINOIS GOVERNOR URGES THRIFT STAMP BUYING

(By Gov. Frank O. Lowden.)

Illinois has now gone "over the top" in its drive for the Third Liberty Loan. The energy given to this has detracted from interest in the campaign for the sale of War Savings Stamps and Certificates. This enterprise, in my opinion, is one of the most promising and useful of all the methods employed for financing the war. It is of the utmost importance to raise the largest sum of money possible in this way, for the amount of War Savings certificates sold for the first year will probably fix the minimum thus to be raised during each year of the war. Therefore, when we sell a War Savings Certificate the Government can count upon receiving annually at least the same amount.

It follows that if we can raise the two billion dollars proposed to be raised in this way this year, the Government can count indefinitely upon a similar amount during the continuance of the war.

What is equally important, habits of thrift are formed by our people. Illinois can easily save in this way her quota, which is one hundred and twenty five million dollars this year. That would mean that each year thereafter her people would save in this way at least one hundred and twenty-five million dollars. What this would be worth to the future of the state it is hardly possible to estimate.

These savings would be invested in the best possible security on earth. In the past in our country, our Government securities have usually gone in the first instance to the bankers. Under the plan now presented the man of the least means can invest in Government securities on even more favorable terms than the largest banking syndicate in the land. Our Liberty Bonds have been more widely distributed among our people than any bonds that have ever been issued. There are, however, many millions of our people who have not subscribed for Liberty Bonds. Every one of these, man, woman or child, should own some of these Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

This is a war in which the humblest and the greatest are equally interested. It is the people's war. Democracy can give no finer exhibition of its right than by a general participation in the purchase of these Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates. Nothing will so nerve our soldiers on the European battle-fronts as the knowledge by them that the men and the women, the boys and girls of America are giving them the largest measure of support. Such support means the purchase by all our people of these stamps and certificates.

This week we have the opportunity to join in the fight. This week we should join the great army of fighters behind the lines. This week we should and must pledge our loyalty—not of words alone but of sacrifice. Every man, every woman and every child should sign a War Savings Pledge. Then we all should not only keep it, but do more than we have pledged. We must save ourselves; we must save materials and service; we must save money to lend the Government. We must lend until it hurts and then lend again.

We must be prepared to throw our all into the scales, lest, if we fail, democracy shall fall and right and justice perish from the face of the earth.

We, like the gallant men of our army and navy must cast our blood. This is our duty as Christian citizens. Not to meet it is to aid Germany, to be disloyal to the nation and to the God of Justice and Love.

Savings of goods, service and money is thus a moral discipline. It teaches us lessons of sacrifice in behalf of others and of regulation of our own desires. Churches must emphasize this moral aspect of patriotism. We must train our souls to be strong because of faith in God. For we are fighting for the protection of the rights of men. We ask no land of indemnity. We shall protect the world in protecting our own dear land; and we shall protect America by defeating the enemies of democracy.

RIPPLING RHYMS

Keeping Cool.

I still am calmly speaking of war and swords and flags, while friends of mine are shrieking and rending of their rags. I never saw much profit in people running wild and borrowing from Popiel hot language that's defied; I see no good in handing blue curses to the foe; it will not aid in landing a solar plexus blow. In raving and ranting I see no earthly good; that fellow's most enchanting who calmly saws his wood. I am a loyal fellow but so are other boys; I do not call them yellow because they make less noise. Oh, I get sick as blazes of that abnormal bore who roasts, in red-hot phrases, the gent who lives next door; because said gent is quiet, and doth all fass abhor, and can't believe that riot will help to win the war. Our President serenely a good example sets to every voter queenly who paws around and frets. His grievous load he carries, and does not pause to swear, while frantic Dicks and Harrys are clawing at the air. He springs no language bitter and yet all nations know that Woodrow is no quitter, and does not fear the foe. We cannot whip the Teuton, or chill his large play feet, with language high-falutin, with curses and repeat.

PHI ALPHA PROGRAM GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT

The program of Phi Alpha Society Friday night was given over to a remembrance of the founders of the society. The members of the society who took part in the program were the Juniors and Seniors of the society. Each member in giving his essay or oration carried his audience back to the days of the founders of the society. The fact that the society was founded upon true democracy, the self same for which this nation is today fighting, was emphasized by members on the program.

The first member on the program was Ralph Newell with an essay entitled "Changing Concepts." B. Underwood was next with an essay "Phi Alpha and the War."

Estelle Wells followed Mr. Underwood with an essay, "The Self-improvement Obtained from Work in Phi Alpha Society."

Emil Wells substituted for a Senior member. Mr. Wells gave an oration entitled, "The Gold Unseen."

The select reader was Francis Taylor, "The Song of the Slave Driver."

The extempore speaker was Henry Best who spoke on "Phi Alpha Today, As I Know Her."

Instead of the debate, the society was treated to an excellent address by the Hon. Carl Robinson. The speaker of the evening was introduced by President Newell. The speaker of the evening made some appropriate remarks concerning the founders of the society. Mr. Robinson spoke about the principles for which the seven men founded Phi Alpha society, the purpose of the society, the intrinsic value of the society, and the good which the society gives now and has given since it was founded. During the course of the evening "Red" Stevenson was admitted to membership.

THE MISSIONARY CONVENTION

The second day of the missionary convention was full of good things. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. R. H. Newton of Atlantic. In the absence of Mr. Peters, Mr. E. C. Bolman state C. E. secretary, had charge of the conference on district efficiency and the New Plan of District Missions. The older boys' and girls' conference was omitted.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President—W. D. Endres of Quincy, Illinois. Vice president—R. B. Fouts of Virden, Illinois. Secretary—C. E. French of Virginia, Illinois.

A SCHOOL PICNIC

Burley Jones and Miss Ethel Sooy took the children of Maple Grove to Nichols park yesterday and enjoyed a nall day picnic. The children had the play ground and, in fact, pretty much the whole park to themselves and proceeded to enjoy it to their heart's content. Supt. Schaefer saw to it that nothing was lacking to make their pleasure complete and they went home at night delighted with the pleasures of the day.

Byron C. Coultas arrived in Jacksonville last night from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where he is stationed with a medical department unit of the army, for a ten day furlough.

PATRIOTIC FAREWELL GIVEN TO SOLDIERS

THREE ENTRAINED FRIDAY FOR CAMP AT FT. THOMAS, KENTUCKY

Will Later Be Joined by Four Others Allocated from This County—Imposing Ceremony Program Carried Out at Court House—Parade with Martial Music Moved to Wabash Station.

Three men were inducted into military service Friday afternoon by the local exemption board and left via the Wabash at 5:20 for Ft. Thomas, Ky.

Appropriate ceremonies were observed at the court house similar to those held on previous occasions, and were attended by a fair audience.

This meeting was called to order at 4:15 o'clock by Board Member William D. Doying. Mr. Doying introduced Rev. W. R. Leslie, pastor of Centenary church, who made the opening prayer.

Rev. R. B. Wilson, pastor of State Street Presbyterian church was then introduced and addressed the young men for a few moments.

The speaker stated that in his opinion it was one of the highest privileges to address young men about to become a part of the United States army. It was his privilege to address the first increment from Scott county for the first national army. It is up to the young men to bring us victory, and the speaker added that the facts regarding army life remain the same, that he could not say many things that would be new, that the young men who he addressed would be carrying on the same old army, that their tasks would be the same and their needs the same, no different from those already in the service. So that there was very little new which he could say to them.

Can Help at Home.

"There are some things however, which you men and those that remain at home should remember. We at home are to be the helpers. You are fighting our battles but we have our part to perform. It is a privilege to be a soldier. We appreciate the work of the artist. You cannot pass thru any park in any of the large cities but what you find standing a sentinel or a soldier on horseback. The sculptor has lifted the soldier to the highest pinnacle of honor.

"Let us turn to history, ancient, mediaeval and modern. No page of history is armed without some reference to the soldier being in evidence. The Spartan mother taught her child that the noblest act was to become a soldier. Roman history bears us out in this. The Romans believed that no higher honor could be gained than to become a soldier of the Roman army.

"What does the soldier represent? He represents the very embodiment of strength. The America soldiers now in France are the ones who have passed rigid physical examinations. They are fit mentally, physically and morally. They represent the defense of the defenseless. They represent the hand executing the wishes of the state. In time of riot or trouble the soldier is the voice of the state to carry out the law. He is the embodiment of the law itself. It is an honor to be a soldier.

The Honor of Being a Soldier.

"The young men of today who are reported physically unfit by the local boards are turning away broken-hearted. At first, some months ago, some rejoiced when they were found to be physically deficient by the examining boards. Today it is not so. The young men feel it a disgrace that they cannot stand in the army and become a defense of the defenseless. It is an honor to be a soldier of the British army, an honor to be a soldier of noble France and of the army of Italy, but no honor like the honor of being an American soldier. The world looks to America to turn the tide. No greater honor will ever come to you boys than comes today in your entrance into military service, and the victory which you will bring back will mean not only to us but unto the world—liberty.

"I speak this afternoon in the superlative degree. No band of soldiers is as large as the army will be of which you will become a part. No army will be so efficiently equipped or so thoroughly trained to the last and ultimate as the army to which you will go."

Turning to the Grand Army veterans the speaker referred to when they were in active service. "When you men were fighting nothing of the present day Y. M. C. A., K. C. work, Red Cross or similar organizations was known. Today thru the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and Red Cross every man and woman in the country have a part in the care of our boys. America would be a traitor if she did not stand back of these boys. It is not America's part to do but to go her best. Never has there been espoused a cause such as that the American army is espousing today. The defense of family is one of the laws of life. If some brute was to break down the home of a man and attempt to murder my family I should fight under the law of life, but if my neighbor's door should be broken down and my neighbor's family shot down and I should go to the rescue, my glory and honor would be even greater than if I was protecting my own home and dear to me. Such is the situation in which America finds herself today. We are fighting for what you Grand Army veterans fought for—life, liberty and happiness.

A Contest for Liberty.

"In Revolutionary times we fought that there should be no taxation without representation. In Civil War days that the Union might stand intact; today that no nation, however large or small, shall be governed without the consent of the governed. The present day principle of Germany is to organize the world. In this new world Germans expect to even stipulate the religion. It is to be neither the Christian religion nor the Catholic religion. God knows what it would be. I suppose Kaiserism.

"When hundreds of thousands of young men after the close of this struggle a new world will be opened unto you. You will pass thru hardship after hardship and unto the victor belongs the spoils. Only unto him who has the will to do shall the laurels come.

"Within five days after reaching camp you men will learn many things. One of these will be to salute the man above you. This is not to make you a slave but to recognize authority, to keep the army from being a mob, to carry out the orders of the army.

"In closing I would say that in this fight you are not alone. Does that mean anything to you? It means that all America is back of you. A few days after your arrival at camp you will have undergone a number of changes. All fear, if any you have, will have left you and you will have gained the spirit of true courage. We at home are willing to make supreme sacrifices for you—to starve or to make any other sacrifice that you boys shall not lack one single thing. We are all alone in this world, England, France and Italy are with us.

Our Debt to France.

"If America had no other reason for taking up the sword at this time there is reason enough on France's side. In the days of the Civil war France lent her interest and men to foster our cause. When you leave New York harbor do not forget to look back and see the figure of a man above you. As you look upon this majestic figure do not forget that it is the gift of France to America. This picture will live in your minds thru all the days to come.

"France is said by some to be bled white. This is not true. At the battle of the Marne, France had an army of 1,500,000 men. Today she has an army of 2,700,000. At the outbreak of the war her munition factories had an output of 100,000 shells per day. At present 300,000 shells are being produced. Bled white? No! As Gypsy Smith said, 'As long as France or England or Italy has a single man left they will stand shoulder to shoulder with the American troops against the Hun. In the cause of justice and liberty.' Smith also said that 5,000 Britons were equal to 50,000 Germans in battle. I would not disparage the skill and force of our enemy but will say that they will never be equal to American skill or American resourcefulness.

"There is at present one American goal, one burning desire, one thought in the breast of every American soldier—that is to bring victory to American arms. Remembering this, that America has never seen defeat and never will, and God grant that His presence will ever keep you steadfast and bring you home safe with liberty and victory for us all."

Board's Interest is Unceasing

Chairman Doying then introduced Dr. Carl E. Black, who delivered the official charge to the men. He said in part:

"I have always considered it a privilege to perform the last duty of the board toward men leaving for the army. You are one of the best families in a way. We have watched your lives for several months, looked into your business, inquired into your affairs generally and will continue our interest in your lives until you are home again. We will watch the newspapers daily to be sure our boys are safe and that they are doing their duty. We know you will do that. We are always interested in you and will be glad to hear from you. If you need help in any way we will always be glad to be of any assistance in any way. We know that the people of Morgan county are behind the soldiers of the county.

"You are going to protect our homes and to a great country. It is a great privilege to go to France a country which has done so much for the world. I would like to go with you on the trip to Berlin. I know that is where you are going. As long as there is a country on earth which prepares for war during peace times and declares hostilities when she thinks her neighbors are unprepared, there is a danger and it is this necessity which forces us to remove the cause of danger at this time.

"By authority of the president I now proclaim you to be members in and a part of the United States army. You are to have a commander. In this case, Mr. Schaefer, who will see you safely to Ft. Thomas. As one of the first duties of a soldier is to obey orders you will obey Mr. Schaefer's commands enroute to Kentucky."

Men Answered Roll.

Adjutant Green then called the roll of the seven men who were to have left for camp. Salvatore Russi, who is said to be on his way from Michigan, had not arrived. Henry Crocker is in Texas and no word has been heard from him. Francis Williams received mobilization transfer to Anna, Ill., and will go to Ft. Thomas from that point. Floyd is at present employed at the cartridge factory at Alton and failed to respond to notice of mobilization from the local board. Beside the orderly, Edward Schaefer of Meredosia, Clarence Reynolds of Waverly and Daniel Allen Ballard of Meredosia answered the roll call. Adjutant Green explained that under the new rulings there were no alternates that the men would go ahead and in seasonal time, if the other men did not go here that the quota would be filled by other registrants but that the probability was that all of the men ordered to Ft. Thomas would take their proper places.

Chairman Doying then announced the meeting adjourned and the parade formed in front of the court house. The three men had their photographs taken by Photographer Otto Spiehl, following which they departed for the Wabash station.

The parade was led by the Liberty Band, followed by exemption board members, Grand Army of the Republic veterans, Woman's Relief Corps and the national army recruits. Between thirty-five and forty men formed the G. A. R. delegation, among whom were Columbus Halgrove, aged ninety years, and Alexander Armstrong, aged eighty-seven years. The delegation was under command of Capt. J. M. Swales. A large crowd followed the parade to the station and cheered the men as they left. Adjutant Green called the roll again just before the men boarded the train.

GENEROUS LIBERTY BAND

Patriotic Musicians Decided to Donate Their Services for the Soldiers.

As has already been noted in the Journal, the newly organized Liberty band for Decoration Day has been made up of superior musicians. Yesterday was their first public appearance and they did most admirably. Their work was all that could be asked and was very pleasing to all concerned. Last night at the meeting of Matt Starr post G. A. R. the following was unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

Matt Starr post G. A. R. notices with great pleasure the fine music of the newly organized Liberty band and sees in their work the efforts of capable and talented musicians whose music leaves nothing to be desired. Their noble decision to play on all occasions in which soldiers are involved is most worthy and gratifying and the cordial thanks of this post are tendered the gentlemen composing the organization.

THREE DEATHS IN SPENCER FAMILY

There have been three deaths in the Spencer family within the past five weeks. The community was shocked last Sunday to know of the untimely death of William Spencer, who was killed by a street car. While the sister, Mrs. Fannie Blatter, of Quincy, was here to attend the funeral she received word that another brother had dropped dead on the street in Quincy. This death occurred at the very time that the funeral of Mr. Spencer was in progress here. A sister of Mr. Spencer passed away at her home in Quincy April 3. Thus the three deaths in the family occurred at very near dates.

For several years it has been the custom of Hon. Andrew Russell to send Matt Starr post $25 for Decoration Day expenses and this year he wrote and asked if the expenses wouldn't be a little more than usual. The answer was that flags would have to be procured with which to designate the graves but they felt they hardly ought to ask any more of him but he insisted on paying for them too so that his voluntary donation will be more than fifty dollars.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag
You into Consumption

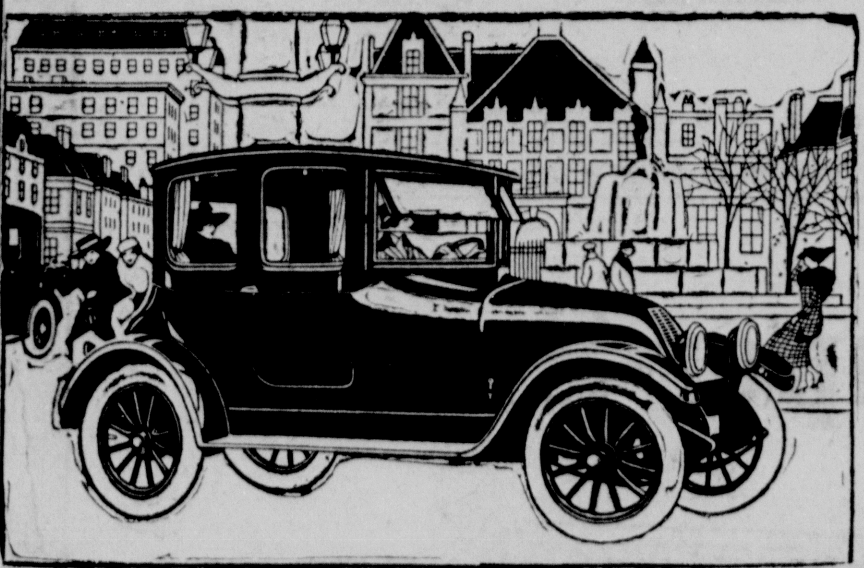

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then readed consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. Get a bottle from your druggist today, and begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. You can obtain special medical advice without charge by writing to Medical Director, 27 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

I tell you it makes a fellow's blood tingle to look at a car like mine, and feel that it belongs to him; a car that will start on the direct drive, a car that will race a railroad train or jog contentedly behind a milk cart; a car that can make a steep hill ashamed of itself; a wild, dashing car that eats up the miles; a faithful, sweet running car that purrs like a pussy cat! To own such a car is to own a kingdom; the driver's seat is a throne, the steering wheel a sceptre, miles are your minions and distance your slave."

the city callers yesterday.

Miss Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs. J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store. — Adv.

MILLER WEIR HOME FROM CHICAGO TRIP

Big City all Astir With Patriotism—Returned Soldier From France Brings New Story of Barbarism.

Miller Weir, chairman of the local exemption board returned yesterday evening from a business trip to Chicago, where he has been for a number of days. He had expected to return in time to see the men for Fort Thomas entrained, but his train being late he arrived an hour too late for this.

Mr. Weir states that Chicago is fully alive to the war crisis and that everything in the big city breathes of patriotism and it truly seems a military center.

Enroute home Mr. Weir stopped at Springfield. Going into a barber shop there yesterday afternoon, he found three of the men employed in the establishment walking up and down the floor and paying little attention to business. Inquiry elicited the fact that a returned soldier from France had just been in the shop. He was a close friend of the proprietor and returned to this country with but one arm. He had been in some of the heaviest fighting on the western front. He told of one instance where the allied troops succeeded in regaining a village which had been occupied by the Germans for several days. He accompanied the victorious allies on their charge thru this place. As he passed what had once been a butcher shop he looked in and saw hanging on the meat hooks in the market the bodies of three babies. Passing on he came upon an old barn or shed upon the door of which two boys had been crucified and their naked bodies horribly mutilated and desecrated. He related these facts as not uncommon sights overseas in territory recaptured from the hell hounds of Germany.

The stories coming so directly from their friend made a wonderful impression on the men in the barber shop and it would have gone hard just then with any one looking like a German enemy should he have chanced into the establishment.

PEDESTAL FOR LINCOLN MONUMENT COMPLETE

Work in Preparation for Statue of Bronze and Granite Indicates Its Massiveness.

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—After two months' work, the pedestal for the statue of Abraham Lincoln which is to be erected at the east entrance of the state capital and unveiled during the Centennial Celebration at Springfield in October, was completed this week. The pedestal is of solid granite and at the rear, forming a background for the statue, is a large granite slab weighing thirty thousand pounds on the back of which is engraved the farewell address of Abraham Lincoln delivered to his neighbors on February 11, 1861, as they stood about on the platform of the Washburn station waiting for his train to pull out as he was leaving for Washington to assume the presidency.

Much work remains to be done in rearranging the walk from the street to the capitol entrance, in order to make it conform with the statue. The grade is to be changed and the walk is to be arranged in such a way that there will be harmony between the statue and pedestal and the capitol.

The statue is being cast in bronze in a foundry in Boston and will be ready for shipment by next week. The Department of Public Works and Buildings and the State Art Commission, under whose direction the work is being done, have not decided whether to send up the statue now and keep it covered until October or to wait until shortly before the date of unveiling before setting it up.

President Wilson has been invited to be present at the unveiling and has promised to be unless events prevent his leaving Washington at that time. Governors of every state in the union will be invited here at the same time.

The statue is the work of Andrew O'Connor of Worcester, Mass., and was made at a cost of $50,000 the money being appropriated by the State of Illinois.

The statue of Stephen A. Douglas by Gilbert P. Riswold of Chicago, made at a cost of $25,000, which is to stand on the capitol grounds just south of the Lincoln statue has been delivered and preparations are being made for its erection. Both statues are recognized by artists as great works of art. The statue of Douglas will be unveiled at the same time as the Lincoln statue.

Another feature of the October celebration will be the laying of the cornerstone of the Centennial Memorial Building which is to be erected just south of the state capitol on grounds purchased and cleared for the purpose. This building will cost at least one million dollars when completed. Owing to the war, very little construction work will be done this year, but it is the intention to make enough of the excavation and lay enough of the foundation to permit the laying of the cornerstone in October.

interesting; and to that end various features are introduced beginning with the first grades.

Jefferson School
Here the work was mostly assembled in one room and nicely arranged. Miss Loneragan's little folks of the first grade had a lot of samples of free hand cutting from paper of various objects and considerable drawing also, all of which was good.

Miss Mayer's children of the first and second had a number of booklets most creditably prepared showing when had been accomplished up to the present time. Part of Holland depicted in the sand table was very good and showed much originality. A circus parade cut free hand in white paper more than ordinary and quite ingenious.

Miss Richards' third and fourth grades had a display of written work which was very good. They had been told stories, given descriptions of various objects and exercised their originality.

Miss Harney's fourth and fifth had fine samples of their work on the walls. There was much language work, a lot of colored drawings and one thing was especially pleasing, samples of nice woolen stockings, thirty pairs, made for the little Belgian children.

Miss Yeck's fifth grade had some good drawing papers, salt raised maps of countries showing products very good.

Miss Mansfield's sixth had had an industrial chair, showing products of fruit, dairy and other things and some free hand drawing. Also some salt maps, drawing books and problems.

Miss Cobb's room showed some very creditable drawing work, number work and various good things.

A service flag with 18 stars in memory of boys who were formerly members of the school and are now in the service was shown. A fine centennial banner is the work of the school and will be used at the proper time. Under Miss Yeck the boys of the sixth grade have some good manual training work and the girls some nice sewing under the leadership of Miss Sleezer. The boys work from blue prints which they make.

Lafayette School
The work of the sixth grade with Miss Hackman, Miss Pires 5A and Miss Doan 5B, was all assembled in one room. The drawing was especially creditable both in colors and in black and white. The language papers were much more than ordinary. The pupils were taught to write stories to describe events and also write letters and in all this there was much originality shown. In the sixth grade a food chart was especially attractive. One sheet was devoted to corn showing the many articles of diet that may be made from this useful grain. A banner was the product of the sewing taught by Miss Sleezer and will wave on due and proper occasions. The fourth B and three under Miss Rogers had one article peculiar and ingenious, an Indian village. The work in this was very original and unique. On penmanship the children also showed decided progress. In original freehand cut work, that is figures cut from paper, there were some very fine articles indeed. The fourth A under Miss Hamilton had a lot of Dutch work which was very good.

There was a cabin which was wonderfully realistic, and an imitation of Mt. Vernon and a structure in colonial style in miniature were also very good. A Swiss house, a log cabin, an Eskimo igloo, a grass hut (homes in Africa and the house on stilts as in the Philippine islands made a group peculiarly ingenious, original and very attractive.

The second grade under Miss Andrews had a circus parade cut out of white paper showing the various animals very well done, also a good many flowers, the product of pencil and brush were shown with good effect.

Miss Pratt's first and second grades had writing done by all the children, also freehand cut work and art work and they also had a circus. The boys had made a tent and the children had painted it with animals of all sorts.

There were clay modeling, writing, numbering and spelling of very good quality.

Miss Sheehan's first grade children had a sand box which contained a lot of figures and all very good. In card work they had an Eskimo village which made one almost shiver to look at and think of the cold climate it represented. The color work also was very good, as was the cut work. Some stories in paper were cut out and spelling, penmanship and arithmetic were shown.

In Miss Fuhr's room the children had a very interesting exhibit of drawing and "cutout" work. There were some excellent samples of rug weaving done by both little girls and boys. The designs cut from paper were not only well done but told legends which the children had learned. In some of the art work unusual originality was displayed and the careful training on the part of the teacher was apparent.

Franklin School
Miss Lusk is on duty again and greeted the Journal man most pleasantly. She told with pardonable pride what her building has accomplished in the war savings stamps and patriotic work.

The sixth grade taught by Miss Maher had charts showing in an excellent manner the products of the United States. There was much literary work of various kinds showing good penmanship, art and good colors. A centennial flag showed some extra fine sewing and is for the whole school. There were also many articles by the sewing class and objects in wood well done by the boys' manual training class.

The Junior Red Cross members roll of honor and the war savings stamps sellers were duly named. In this the school stands 100 per cent in Junior Red Cross.

The fifth grade under Miss Carter, showed much good art color work. There were folders describing some particular country and on the cover was a map of that land. Test papers and language work were shown to good advantage. In spelling there were several papers which showed 100 per cent.

Miss Scott's fourth grade children showed much art work arrayed very tastefully on the walls; flowers and many objects were handsomely depicted. In penmanship the children showed good work. Spelling tablets, language work, copied stories, bills of merchandise and other subjects claimed attention.

The third grade with Miss Tyrrell had a grand circus coming to town. The parade was cut from white paper, free hand, with no lines drawn. Many other articles were conspicuous here.

Miss Harris had an extra display in her second grade room. A whole lot of free hand cut work from paper, stories illustrated, an especially imposing circus parade cut from white paper, flowers, posters; several months represented; May by Maypole; February by Washington's cherry tree, etc. Some fine snow flakes were very natural.

Miss Clampt's first graders had much free hand drawing. Posters representing different months. A Noah's ark was especially original and well done in free hand paper cutting, some Mother Goose posters in colors were also good.

Washington School
In war savings stamps sale the school stands 100 per cent.

The fifth grade taught by Miss Wardhaugh had a lot of work in drawing, black and white and colors. Then the writing was creditable. Language work, geography, arithmetic and other branches had received attention.

The fifth B grade, Miss Wetzel, had a number of flags depicted and some fine drawings. A sand pile showed originality in its effects. Then there was geography work and a lot of Lincoln booklets with short stories of the great man.

The sixth A, Mrs. Hitt, was especially notable for the progress made in writing. A number of pupils had written sentences at the beginning of the year and some recently, also the remarkable progress in penmanship. Then there was work in geography, language and arithmetic, all good.

Mrs. Riley with her sixth B grade had an especially creditable display of maps in color showing various lands admirably depicted. Then she also had displays of work in geography, arithmetic and other branches.

Mrs. Landers' first grade children showed wonderful progress in their work in September and May being contracted. A sand table was made to show a farm. The animals of cut paper, very good. There was a fine variety of paper work.

Miss Cox's second graders showed in a sand box a very clever representation of scenes in Holland; also some good drawings and the sinking of a submarine accomplished by the sale of enough war savings stamps.

Miss Lusk with her fourth A grade had some creditable specimens of drawing and stencil work. A number of mats were especially meritorious while the writing was also worthy of mention and here too they had a submarine well down in the water, needing but a few stamps to settle it.

Miss Hopper's third A had a unique exhibit in the way of a sand pile with corn and several other plants growing. Then a playhouse had been completely furnished throughout with paper and pasteboard articles cut in free hand manner. The rooms, the wall paper, mats, rugs and other articles were good. On the wall was an extra big circus parade and a lot of Indian posters.

Miss Tendick's first A and 2 B children showed much ability in free hand drawing. They also had some excellent writing and a sand table, a forest, mats and other articles.

Some of the upper grades have made a fine centennial flag and they also have creditable manual training work and the girls sewing also.

Morton School

The Morton school was not at all behind the others in any way. Miss Higley teaches the fifth grade; Miss Duffner the fourth; Miss Stacy the third and Miss Young the first and second. The display in the building was very good. One leading feature was a chart or several of them, showing in an original manner the products of the United States in an attractive form. The children had all kinds of language work well done and were all proficient in writing. Some geography studies were especially worthy of mention. The color drawing showing all kinds of articles; the original designs in different departments all showed that this school is making excellent progress.

Independence School
Here Miss Lavelle was a bit ambitious and had a special program.

We do our bit—Eleven children. Song—America. Pretty Little Dandelion and Soldier Boy.

The other play, The Stamps, by the school. A fairy story. Star Spangled Banner. Salute the flag.

Good work has been done in Red Cross work and sale of thrift stamps with sale of 2114 to their credit. Pupils have taken many and there are several credit stars and one gold star. They naturally feel proud of their work and are sad at the death of Melvin Nunes.

In all the schools the Palmer system of writing is being used with fine results. A very meager outline has been given but lack of space made the report brief.

DEATHS

Brief mention has been made of the death of Mrs. Sarah A. Jewsbury. The maiden name of the deceased work was Ann Jackson and she was born at a farm home three miles northeast of Jacksonville in 1831. She was the daughter of William and Catherine Jackson and all of her long and active life was spent in this country. Mrs. Jewsbury was one of a family of eleven children, of whom Henry L. Jackson of the city is now the only survivor. May 29, 1856, the deceased was married to Richard F. Jewsbury, who preceded her in death two years since. To them were born eight children, Fannie L. Sayre, Lynville; Mary C., Henry C., Thomas E., Tirzah L. and Amanda, all at home. William B. and Nancy A. deceased. She leaves also seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Mrs. Jewsbury was a woman devoted to her family circle and to her friends and she lived with a self sacrificing devotion that endeared her to all those with whom she came in contact.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday at the Arcadia church.

WILLARD LEIDY IN SEA SERVICE
Mrs. Charles Leidy received word yesterday from her son Willard that he had arrived safely at an Atlantic Port after his fourth trip to France. Young Leidy states that he made an extended trip into France upon his last voyage which explains why no word was received from him during the last two months. Leidy enlisted in the navy a number of months ago and received his training at the Great Lakes Station.

GREAT WAR PRESENTS EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS

Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp Shows There is Special Need to Encourage Attendance at Schools and Colleges—Future Line of Defense a Consideration—State Council Begins Campaign for Education.

At the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at the Pacific hotel Friday Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp was the speaker. His theme was "The Effect of War upon Education and Educational Institutions." The speaker gave some facts and figures in support of his statement that the response of schools and colleges to the call to the colors has been extremely patriotic. "It is unquestionably true," he said "that college students as a class have made a larger contribution to active military service than any other class in the population."

With reference to Illinois College, Dr. Rammelkamp said that as a direct result of the war that there had been a decrease in attendance of about 14 per cent. Applied only to the young men of the institution, the loss is 25 per cent and these figures apply to other educational institutions in like percentage. The speaker mentioned the records of various colleges and universities in proof of his statement. While the speaker was pointing out the losses in student attendance resulting from the war and the large contributions to military service that the institutions were making, his main purpose was to bring forward for serious consideration some of the problems which the war is creating in an educational way.

Industry Derails from Schools.
In this phase of the question the speaker said that fathers and citizens have a direct and deep personal interest. In England as a direct result of the war a large number of elementary and secondary schools have been closed, with the result that 130,000 school children have lost these educational advantages and at a time when the training would mean more to them and to the world than at any previous time. One reason for the lesser attendance has been the insistent call of industry for workers, and the laxness in the enforcement of child labor laws. In England one cause contributing to closing the schools has been in limiting funds for educational expenses because of the great demand for money along other lines.

With the head and support of many families gone into military service, there is a natural impulse for comparatively young children to give up school and go to work. There is also the attraction of higher wages than have been customary. So it is comparatively easy to understand the tendency toward non-attendance at schools during war times.

The speaker emphasized the fact that while this far there has been no great falling off in attendance in the graded schools, that America must guard against the experiences in England and must resist any effort to break down the laws regulating the labor of children or the compulsory education laws. He said that education and training is now more important than ever, not only in the graded schools but in the high schools and colleges.

If the natural tendency were followed and the number of students permitted to decrease, in coming years there would certainly be a great dearth of teachers and those fitted to assist in educational work. "It is of vital importance for this country to have an intellectual population. There must be trained leaders in the technical branches and in professional work. If young men are not encouraged to continue their education and to push on through medical schools there will be great scarcity in coming years of men able to give medical assistance. So the schools and colleges today can be properly looked upon as the lines of future defense, and the lines of future defense must be maintained just as well and as sacredly as the lines of present defense."

Campaign for Education.
Indicating that this question is interesting the state council of defense, Dr. Rammelkamp read the following telegram which he received a few days since:

Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp,
Pres. Illinois College,
Pres. Jacksonville, Ill.

The state council of defense is trying to arrange an educational campaign week beginning May 13, to encourage boys to continue their school education until reaching draft age. Will you assist by assigning speakers to cover elementary schools and high schools throughout the state? Please let us know how many speakers you can give us as the time is short. Please reply promptly to the state council of defense.

W. F. Brewster, Chairman
Neighborhood Committee

Similar telegrams were sent to educators all over the state with the result that a great group of speakers will be busy during the coming week making addresses in elementary schools and high schools on this subject. Dr. Rammelkamp assigned one man for service during the entire week and another for a portion of the time. The whole subject presented was of such vital present day interest that it had the earnest attention of all present at the luncheon Friday. The address put the question in a much clearer light for those present and they realized the importance of the question more than they had done before.

AT THE STRAW FARM
George Kieck, now owner of the Straw estate lands in Alexander neighborhood, was a Jacksonville business visitor Friday. As previously mentioned Mr. Kieck is now having extensive work done on his farm property. Some drainage work with both open ditches and tiling is in progress and while not yet completed, sufficient has been done to be of great benefit.

Altho so large a volume of water fell on the land during the recent storm, Mr. Kieck said yesterday that the water had receded very rapidly and that practically no damage had been done. There is considerable acreage of land on this farm where insufficient drainage has caused trouble in rainy seasons. However, Mr. Kieck is finding that the land is comparatively easy to drain as there is a good outlet for the farm for both the open ditches and the tile.

ALMOST BLIND FROM DIZZINESS

This Virginia Lady Tells of Constant Suffering from Dreadful Backaches, Permanently Relieved By Cardui

Norton, Va.—Mrs. E. S. Clouse, of this place writes: "In about 1901 I seemed to get in bad health. I had been married about a year. I called in Dr. of —, who treated me — and gave me medicine, which didn't do me any good. I suffered agony for about 4 months and felt I must have some relief, for I was so bad off that I was really unable to be up out of bed during all that time."

I could hardly walk, every step was painful and a drag. I would be almost blind from dizziness. I'd have dreadful backaches that never ceased, and severe pains. I read of Cardui in the Birthday Almanac and friends urged me to try it. I used one bottle with such beneficial results that I gained hope of recovery. After the use of two or three bottles, I felt so much better that I was able to get up and go about my work. My improvement was steady and after about the third or fourth bottle, I was entirely cured and the cure has been permanent. For the past seven years I have had perfect health and my work has been a pleasure."

Inside Facts About the
LEONARD CLEANABLE

Notice how the one-piece porcelain lining extends clear outside the door-frame. All the corners are rounded for quick and easy cleaning.

It is the inside of a refrigerator that counts. And no refrigerator is better than this. If it is lined with zinc or sheet iron, no matter how it is galvanized or painted, it can not possibly be sanitary. In the Leonard Cleanable the lining is of genuine porcelain—all in one piece. Look at the doors; even the edges are porcelain. No joints, no cracks, no crevices to harbor germs and give out odors. You wash it with soap and water as you clean a dish. You can tell this lining from others for it cannot be scratched or marred, even with a hat pin or knife blade.

Don't accept any other refrigerator than the genuine Leonard Cleanable. Look for the name and be sure. Let us show you this splendid refrigerator and explain its many good qualities. It is made in the largest refrigerator plant in the world and, in our opinion, it is the best of all refrigerators.

CORONER ROSE HELD THREE INQUESTS FRIDAY

Inquisitions Held for Melvin Nunes, Richard Driver and Eva May Pogue—Verdict of Accidental Death Returned in Nunes and Pogue Cases—Verdict in Driver Case was Heart Trouble.

Coroner Rose held three inquests Friday, making a total of five cases in two days. The inquisitions Friday were for Melvin Eugene Nunes, Eva May Pogue and Richard Driver.

The Nunes boy was drowned while wading at the North Side pumping station and death came to the Pogue girl by accidental shooting. Heart trouble superinduced by old age caused the death of Richard Driver.

The inquest of Melvin Nunes was held at Reynolds Undertaking parlors Friday afternoon. Just after the drowning there was a rumor that the boy had been pushed in the water. However, nothing was brought out at the inquest that tended to show there was any truth in the rumor.

The jury summoned by Coroner Rose was composed of W. R. James foreman, Charles C. Crandall, Carl Graubner, G. B. Keller, E. J. Henderson and C. S. Richards, clerk.

Witnesses Tell Story.
Testimony was heard from James Nunes, Wayne Rousey, Byron Grimmer, George Souza and Joshua Vasconcellos. The only person who saw the boy fall in the water was Byron Grimmer of 908 Ashland avenue. Grimmer testified that he was sitting on the bank and Melvin Nunes in company with Leonard (James) Nunes and Wayne Rousey started to wade across the dam. He saw the boy fall in and go over his head.

He immediately gave the alarm and Mr. Vasconcellos and George Souza both hastened to the spot. The testimony of Mr. Vasconcellos was that he went in to attempt to get the boy out. He found he could not swim with his clothing on and went back and removed some of it and again went in and finally got the boy out.

Souza in the meantime had gone to the residence of John Daub and telephoned to the police station and Dr. W. P. Duncan. He then went back and assisted Mr. Vasconcellos in trying to resuscitate the boy. They were unable to do so and when the police arrived they took Nunes to Passavant hospital but efforts to revive him proved of no avail.

After hearing the testimony the jury returned a verdict that Nunes came to his death by accidentally drowning by slipping off the dam crossing the low land at the North Side pumping station while wading.

Driver.
A jury composed of E. J. Henderson, foreman, E. C. Taylor, clerk, John Frank, E. R. Harris, George Smith and H. W. Emberton, sat in the inquisition into the cause of the death of Richard Driver, met at the Undertaking parlors of Williamson & Cody Friday morning. After hearing the testimony of Herbert Vasconcellos and Mrs. Ella Winter they returned a verdict that death was caused by organic heart trouble superinduced by old age.

Pogue.
"We, the undersigned jury, sworn to enquire into the death of Eva May Pogue on oath do find that she came to her death by the effect of a gun shot wound which was accidentally made by a gun in the hands of Roy Hayes, a six years old cousin of the deceased who was playing with the gun."

The jury empaneled by Coroner Rose was composed of William Batz, George Smith, A. R. Endsley, Chris Mader, E. J. Henderson and F. C. Taylor. The jury convened at the undertaking parlors of Williamson & Cody Friday morning.

The testimony of Mrs. Eura Pogue and Virgil Pogue, parents of the girl was heard. The father was out on the farm working at the time of the shooting and the mother was in another room. She heard her son call to her, "Mama, Mama." He was playing in another room with his sister and the Hayes boy. When she entered the room she found the little girl lying on the floor with her brother beside her and Roy Hayes with a rifle in his hands. The mother took the child in her arms and ran to the yard and called her husband. He made an examination and located the wound. They then took the child to Franklin where an examination was made by Dr. Perkins. The child regained consciousness there and was brought to Jacksonville where she was examined by Dr. Black. She died shortly after the examination. The Hayes boy said he discharged the gun but that he didn't know it was loaded.

Funeral services will be held from Williamson & Cody's undertaking parlors this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in charge of the Rev. F. M. Crabtree of Pisgah. Burial will be in Jacksonville cemetery.

WOMEN GIVE GREAT AID AT THE BATTLE FRONT

Tributes Paid to Salvation Army Workers in the War Zones—Officers and Men Bear Testimony.

American women who have been setting record after record in connection with war activities since the United States entered the big strife, are adding new laurels to their wreath on the European battlefields.

Page after page has been written about the white-gowned women of the Red Cross who with deft and tender hands care for the wounded in the hospitals. Now war-hardened officers, who "bood" the entrance of the "weaker sex" into the great war camps are without shame nor sparing of language acclaiming them as great factors in sustaining the morale of the troops.

The Worth of Women.
Speaking of the khaki clad Salvation Army women workers, of whom there are now several hundred manning the hutments in the battle zones, one gruff general recently said:

"One experienced cheery Salvation Army woman is worth ten men in preserving the morale of the soldiers at the front."

Another said: "The wholesome influence of good American women in these camps cannot be overestimated."

Brigadier General G. E. Duncan of the American Expeditionary forces has sent this testimonial to the Salvation Army headquarters:

"The Salvation Army has stepped very closely into the hearts of the men. Your huts have been open to them at all times. They have been cordially received in a homelike atmosphere, and many needs provided. In religious teachings your efforts have the honest support of the chaplains. For myself, I feel that the Salvation Army has a real place for its activities with our Army in France, and I offer you and your workers, men and women, good wishes and thanks for what you have done and are doing for our men."

There are scores of such complimentary messages being sent back home but it remains for the boys in the ranks to unbride their enthusiasm when telling of the war work the women are doing at the front.

The Testimony of Soldiers.
Here is one from Private Thomas orage:

"I meet the Salvation Army lassies wherever I go. They are big sisters or sympathetic mothers to the boys. Their cooking is just like home. These women help the soldiers in many ways by mending the uniforms, darning their socks and writing letters home. They make the boys feel welcome at the hutments and no matter how tired or sick these kind officers are they greet you with a smile and words of comfort and cheer. They are wonderful."

Private Henry Mills, who comes from Oakland, California, sent this one:

"I have just come from a Salvation Army hut where I had a big cup of good hot coffee. Believe me, I'll never pass the Salvation Army hut again without dropping in my collection. Their huts are right up to the front, and I sure have changed my mind about the work they do."

"We have found good Christian women to be the best workers we can send to France to carry on this work." Lt. Colonel A. T. Brewer, of Territorial Headquarters said. "No hardship seems to be too great for them, so great to their courage and their physical stamina is wonderful. Too much cannot be said of the work these women are doing. Their influence is great and they just seem to fit. The military leaders have recognized their great value by making them a part of the militarized force."

PROPOSED COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL

To the Voters of the city of Jacksonville and Community:

Do you know that just 58 persons signed that petition to burden the taxpayers of the city and surrounding country by taxing them possibly four or five hundred thousand dollars for a Community High school when you already have $11,600.00 insurance money to apply on a new city high school which cannot be used to build a Community High school. Why do this at this time when all of us are contributing to the Y. M. C. A., Red Cross and K. of C. funds along with our present high taxes for state, county and city governments?

Better Stop, Look and Listen. First win this war and it looks now that it will take all of our combined resources to do this. Give the boy who is giving his life to protect your home, your country and all that is sacred to every citizen of this the greatest government in the world, all the financial support possible.

No citizen of this Community High school district is against giving the children a good education but have we not been doing this, with Jacksonville having the best schools and colleges in the country and has now the best site for a High school and nearly enough money to build it. Has not Jacksonville's boast been of having the best educational facilities of any city in the West? Why should we at this time assume unnecessary burdens when the President of the United States is advising that we should not enter into any new enterprise at this time which we can possibly avoid?

It has been suggested that Jacksonville is doing some good things for the farming community. But is it not a fact that Jacksonville could not exist if it were not for the farming community surrounding it? Our city fathers have always advocated that to make a greater and better Jacksonville that we should trade at home; which is right. The voter of this city who thinks he or she is placing a burden on the country is badly mistaken. You will have to bear the burden equally with them. The people of the country may conclude if you have no interest in them, except to tax them that they had just as well get their supplies elsewhere.

A Citizen and Taxpayer of the City of Jacksonville.
